

[We see an aerial shot of the dental practice building with a brown slanted roof and brick siding. In the background we see a series of tall hills]

(Dr. Huddleston)

Hello. My name is Dr. Darren Huddleston, and I welcome you here to the Center for Esthetic Dentistry.

[We pan across the sign situated in front of the practice. It reads "The Center for Esthetic Dentistry, Darren S. Huddleston, DMD, PC, General Dentistry"]

[We see Dr. Huddleston speaking with a friendly demeanor]

(Dr. Huddleston)

I attended the University of Florida College Dentistry for dental school, and I've been practicing out here in Grants Pass for 22 years.

[A shot of the front entrance shows off the attractive rustic, arts and crafts inspired architecture of the building]

(Dr. Huddleston)

We listen to you and find out what your needs are and what your desires are. And we do our very best to accomplish those things, whether it be veneers, crowns, fillings, or no treatment needed at all. We just want to see you in a happy, healthy oral environment.

[A panning shot of the inside of the practice displays the waiting area, including large brown cushioned chairs, wide windows letting in sunlight, and a floor to ceiling stone fireplace.]

[We see another angle of the entrance area, this one showing the curved reception desk, the double high ceilings, and more of the rustic décor]

(Dr. Huddleston)

For us, a successful visit in our offices is when you're leaving with a smile on your face, you feel good about the work you've had done. I feel great about the work we did for you, because we're all about quality dentistry here, and that you have no problems or situations at home after the fact.

[A female patient approaches the front door of the office, then pulls it open]

[From inside the practice, we see the patient entering through the front door and smiling]

[The patient and staff member talk, the patient smiling wide]

(Dr. Huddleston)

In my office, you'll find the most advanced dental care that you'll find anywhere in the United States.

[We see a shot of an implant milling machine, creating a dental implant]

[Another shot of the milling machine shows a close-up view of the implant being sculpted]

[A practice team member removes the implant from the machine]

[We see a close up of the team member holding the newly created implant]

(Dr. Huddleston)

We employ so many different means of technology. We have digital x rays, so you don't have to have as much radiation when you have x rays done.

[We see several shots of the digital x-ray machine]

(Dr. Huddleston)

We have digital scanner so we can take a look in your mouth without having to take those yucky impressions that people hate so much.

[Dr. Huddleston operates a digital scanner in a patient's mouth, watching the computer screen as he navigates it around her teeth]

(Dr. Huddleston)

I'm sure you'll be pleased with the advancements that you'll see in dentistry here at our office

[Dr. Huddleston operates a laser tool, cleaning up a dental implant]

[We see a close-up shot of Dr. Huddleston's face, wearing dental loupes and concentrating on the laser work]

[A close up shot shows the laser tool cleaning up the implant]

(Dr. Huddleston)

What patients say that set us apart from other offices they've been to is how they are treated. They're treated in such a warm, comfortable environment and I do my very best to make sure you're comfortable working with me. And I'm a very gentle dentist.

[A close up shot of a computer screen shows the 3D scan of the teeth taken by Dr. Huddleston]

[A wider shot shows the patient in the examination chair with Dr. Huddleston next to her. He gestures to the 3D scan on the screen as he speaks to her. The patient nods her head in understanding.]

[Another closer shot of Dr. Huddleston shows him continuing to speak to the patient shot with a friendly demeanor]

[A female patient sits in the reception area speaking to the camera. A graphic on screen identifies her as Tina]

(Tina)

I've been coming to this practice for over 12 years.

[A female dental hygienist cleans and examines the teeth of a patient laying in an examination room]

(Tina)

All of my dental needs I have come here. I love coming to this practice because there's no fear.

[A closer shot of the dental hygienist shows her wearing dental loupes, a face mask, and a face shield as she concentrates on her patient]

[We see another shot of the hygienist working on the patient]

[We return to the shot of Tina speaking]

(Tina)

I get to come and see somebody that I know that I consider a friend.

[Dr. Huddleston holds a mold of a dental teeth, speaking to a member of his team as he points to a section of the mold with a pencil]

(Tina)

The office is always professional. Every member of the team is there to help, and I really appreciate that, especially when you're on a time schedule.

[Dr. Huddleston sits at a conference table, speaking to 2 members of his staff seated with him]

[A closer shot shows Dr. Huddleston still engaged in a conversation at the conference table]

[A male patient sits in the reception area speaking to the camera. A graphic on screen identifies him as David]

(David)

Darren feels like family to me. We have a great rapport together and he's so thorough and detail oriented. I really like that.

[Dr. Huddleston using a dental laser to clean a patient's teeth in an examination room]

[A closer shot shows Dr. Huddleston concentrating on the work of cleaning the patient's teeth]

(David)

And every one of the procedures I've ever had here has been virtually pain free, and I really enjoy that.

[Dr. Huddleston sits at his desk, speaking on the phone]

[We return to a shot of David speaking in the reception area]

(David)

This place is feels like home to me.

(Dr. Huddleston)

What's most satisfying to me with dentistry is seeing how we're able to affect and change people's lives for the better.

[Dr. Huddleston sits in a meeting room across from a patient. Between them is a computer screen showing an x-ray image]

[Another view shows Dr. Huddleston pointing something out on the x-ray]

(Dr. Huddleston)

When I have a patient who's come into my office self-conscious about their smile and then they leave smiling and beaming and sometimes even in tears because they're so happy that they've never been able to have such a good smile as they had in the past.

[An aerial shot sweeps across the front entrance of the building]

[We return to Dr. Huddleston speaking to the camera]

(Dr. Huddleston)

And it just feels good to know that we've done quality work and it feels great to receive all the wonderful compliments that our patients bring to us.

[One last aerial shot pulling away from the practice building transitions us to a closing graphic]
